HONGKONG, THURSDAY, JUNE 13, 1889.

THE question of the disposal of town refuse is occupying a great deal of attention in India at the present moment. Bombay has made experiments with various systems, and the subject is being actively discassed in Calcutta with reference to proposals now before the Calcutta Corporation to incinerate the refuse of that city. The experiments in incineration made in Bombay were not satisfactory. During the wet weather it was next to impossible to burn the refuse even at a large cost; and, besides Trus Superintendent of the P. and O. Co. climatic disadvantages, there were the difficulties arising out of an entire absence Teherani from Bombay, left Singapore for of cinder refuse among the sweepings, and Hongkong yesterday, at 2 p.m. the high price paid for fuel. The Bombay reports further show that even in those THE Agent of the Austra-Hungar, Lloyd's towns of England where the conditions S. N. Co. informs us that the a. a. Such reclamations have been made in the vicinity of large towns in England and Scotland, and have, whon carried out with a fair amount of care, raised very few complaints on the score of detriment to health; and, as we have said, Bombay has made extensive reclamations with its refuse. We are far from recommending that Mr McCallum's proposal should be adopted forthwith. There is a strong feeling, which wo at first shared, that the shooting of re-I fuse into a bay at Kowloon would be 4 p.m.—Share List of The Shameen Hotel | prejudicial to the health of the small peninsula. The advocates of this system ought. therefore, before they again ask the Sanitary Board or the public to accept the scheme, to bring proof that similar reclamations have not been attended with prejudicial results elsewhere, and they ought also to show by a small practical test that their scheme can work as well in practice as it looks in theory. This is not a matter to be decided off-hand by more impulse. It is a matte: of great financial importance, for if the burying process is not successful, we must be prepared to incur a large expense to provide means for either drowning or burning our refuse. Of these two alternatives, the former seems the least objec-INSENG, the Cinchons of China, has tionable. APTER a fortnight of hard thinking the majestic intellects which direct and contrithe operations of the Public Works Depart ment have arrived at the conclusion that the best way to get this Colony out of the mud in which it was buried fourteen days ago is to divide the place into sections and get contractors to undertake the removal of the storm-deposit from each section within and shows in a striking way what long and intense study of a subject can bring about. The problem has been fully considered in all its bearings. There has been no evading of the necessary minutes or reports or recommendations or proposals or any of the other important formulae hecessary in dealing with a crisis. Eminent officials have been carefully and patiently sitting on the mud until they have got to know i thoroughly and to understand how it should be treated. They have done nothing rashly, and now that they have given their verdict The community may rest assured that it is a well-deliberated one. There are people who say this decision ought to have been come to about a couple of weeks ago, when everybody else had arrived at it, but they forget that the Governmental mind does not move in that absurdly rapid and ordinary way. At all events, the conclusion has now been reached, and the end of the great mud ago looks not quite so far off as it did a few days ago. The question of how the mud is to be disposed of has also been considered. The portion of it removed has been dumped at the principal wharf in the to try the cases sepurately. harbour, but as a blind and unreasoning public and press could not see it to be an inaccessible, the Government had to give way to popular prejudice, and has now decreed that the mud shall be dumped at went to the Police Station another point-namely, opposite the City with the Praya Reclamation scheme, and will not cause inconvenience. #### INTIMIDATING A BROTHEL-KEEPER BY FORGED : LETTERS.

The Police are now making anxious in quiries regarding a Chinese employe of the Public Works Department in connection with the threatening letters purporting to have come from the Colonial Secretary, which were delivered the other day to the mistress of a Chinese brothel in the western district. The letters, one of which we published, were signed 'Stewart, Colonial Secretary,' and bore the stamp of the Public Works Department. The employe suspected of being the writer has disappeared since

The case against the second prisoner was then proceeded with. Inspector Perry said the mistress of the brothel brought the first of the two letters to the station on the 7th inst. 800IETY. Transactions of the Hongkong Medical Society, published by Messrs Kelly and Walsh. This, the first Medical Society in China, was started very quietly in October 1886. Its objects were set forth in an inaugural address delivered by the President. Dr. P. Manson, from which give below a few extracts. Dr. Manson at the outset points out the disadvantages under which medical practitioners in the Far East had hitherto laboured. The experience of his predecessors not having been recorded, each practitioner had to begin over again where his predecessor began. 'To this unfortunate circumstance,' said the lecturer, and, what is only a asians. This is left entirely to the gooddifferent phase of the same circumstance, to the absence of systematic teaching an study of exotic disease in our schools, is in great measure to be attributed the amazing ignorance in the profession, both at home and abroad, in regard to Eastern diseases.

individual. But not long ago the Jos Se lev or the "Nabob" idea was universally entertained about him. And, as it was this respect with the lay notion about the man as a social entity, so it was with the medical notion about the man as a pathole gical entity. It was always assured he ate and drank too much, or that he had done so : that he was physically indolent that his liver was too big or too small and that he must be stupofied all occasions when physic was indicated with quinine. The lay mind has abandoned the Jos Sedley and " Nabob " type : but alss, the profession is for once behind th age-it still sticks to its traditions. Any one who has been through the Suez Cana is assumed in London consulting rooms t have an enlarged or otherwise diseases liver; that he eats and drinks too much and that he stands in need of blue pill nitro-muriatic acid and quinine. Simila ignorance and misconception prevail on many other points. For example:-In the department of fevers it is assumed that al fevers are known, that any given case must be one of the familiar continued forms of malarial. Even Hirsch in his wonderful book assumes this; he almost success at English doctors in China as they do not make a more particular diagnosis of certain fevers than is made by calling them "continued. Yet, undoubtedly, there are fevers in China which have not yet been described distinct from the recognized types-as distinct as typhus is from typhoid. I have sometimes. wondered how much quinine is wasted in the world in a year on account of inability to diagnose the malarial from the continued fevers. As in the matter of liver complaints and fevera so in the case of many other Eastern diseases. Certainly great ignorance prevails at home. What

The principal reason for this ignorance being want of organisation. Dr Manson urges on his co-practitioners to do their best to forward the object of the Society. which was to remedy this state of affairs. He then points out that there is no lack of material for original and useful work, there being in nearly every department of pathology distinct diseases, or phases of disease, common enough in Hongkong or other parts of China, many of which as far as he knew had never been mentioned, much less described in medical literature, while there were others which had a special local interest. He then goes on to illustrate this by giving instances in various departments of diseases, and concludes :-Besides being a means of increasing the common stock of knowledge in reference to disease and stimulating its members to contribute to this, our Society will be a most valuable school for the education of its members. Unlike the quack, medical man, as men of science in general, acknowledges his ignorance and is enger to learn; and, unlike the quack, the man of science is eager to impart what special knowledge he may have stumbled on. discovering a fact he proclaims it, and pleasure is to see it incorporated in the general stock of knowledge.
